

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

This is a hands-on workshop for beginners or companies newly exposed to the ITAR. It is also a useful refresher for anyone needing to get up to speed with the latest changes to the ITAR or State Department requirements for licensing defense articles or defense services.

The program will provide licensing and compliance personnel with practical insights into the requirements of the ITAR. It will include interactive discussion and exercises designed to assist attendees in understanding the day-to-day application of the ITAR.

Jenny Hahn, President - Since joining FD Associates in 1992, Jenny has assisted exporters with a variety of licensing and compliance requirements. Jenny has expertise and experience in various technologies including aircraft, parts and components, night vision equipment, satellite parts and components, ballistic/armored equipment, firearms/ammunition, propulsion systems for missiles and Intelligence Surveillance and Reconnaissance equipment and various weapon systems. Jenny is the lead trainer at FD Associates. She has conducted numerous workshops on Export Control Reform since its implementation, October 15, 2013. In addition, she assists companies in establishing compliance programs and is the company lead on audits and provides on-site training in the requirements of the ITAR and EAR.

Keil J. Ritterpusch, ESQ., Vice President—Compliance - Keil J. Ritterpusch, Esq. joined FD Associates in February 2015. Keil has more than 20 years of experience in trade compliance, having run his own law practice handling trade compliance and other legal matters for clients in a wide range of industries, including the aerospace, defense, and high technology sectors, and having worked as the Director of Import and Export Compliance for Textron Systems. Keil provides expertise to clients on export licensing, technology transfers, export classifications, export compliance assessments, export compliance audits and investigations, and the design, development, and implementation of tailored export compliance programs. Keil works closely with clients to understand their specific needs in order to ensure the right solutions are provided both for the short- and long-term goals of clients.
